CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro Tested Compatible With Windows Server 2008 R2

CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro, the newest email management tool by CodeTwo designed for Exchange Server administration, was tested compatible with Windows Server 2008 R2 last week. The compatibility test confirmed the program's top quality and reliability level and the application received the prestigious Microsoft "Works with Windows Server 2008 R2" logo.

Jelenia Gora, Poland, April 4, 2011—

As a part of Microsoft Partner Network ISV community, CodeTwo delivers one of the most reliable software solutions on the market. In order to receive Microsoft's compatibility certificates, CodeTwo's applications have to fulfill strict technical requirements which mirror the programs' top quality and give the user a solid proof that given software belongs to products considered as one of the best in its category. CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro is a completely new product by CodeTwo and yet it has proved its high quality by obtaining the "Works with Windows Server 2008 R2" logo.

- What our customers value most is the quality of the software they use. - says Michal Bednarz, founder and director of CodeTwo - The Works with Windows Server 2008 R2 logo for CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro confirms that our clients can fully rely on our business software solutions.

CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro is a Microsoft Exchange Server add-on that gives the server administrator a bigger control over the entire email flow in the organization. It allows to set server sided rules for email content control, auto-responders, attachment control, email signatures and disclaimers and many more. All these features are easily accessible from a simple and intuitive user interface which makes the server administration much simpler than using Exchange Server native capabilities. The application belongs to one of the fewest solutions on the market that offers all these capabilities in one place as a comprehensive product.

The application is now being intensively developed and new features are announced to come in next versions of CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro.
